AMERICANS LOST ON ANCONA

Austro-Hungarian Admiral Places Responsibility Upon Officers of Steamer

Rome, Nov. 15—Nine Americans were lost on the Ancona, according to all information available it is announced in an official statement issued at the Royal Emigration Office. Altogether it is believed that 208 lives were lost.

Vienna, Nov. 15—The Austro-Hungarian admiralty has issued the following statement.

"The foreign press is spreading false reports regarding the sinking of the Ancona. The incident occurred as follows:

"Our submarine fired one shot before the steamer's prow, whereupon the steamer fled at full speed, in compliance with orders from the Italian authorities, which states that ships shall flee or sink the submarine.

"The submarine pursued the steamer and continued firing. The steamer stopped only after it had been hit several ties. The submarine then allowed the passengers and crew 45 minutes in which to abandon the steamer, on which panic reigned.

"However, only the small boat were lowered, and these were occupied principally by the crew. A great number of boats—probably sufficient to have saved all the passengers—remained unoccupied.

"After 45 minutes the submarine on the approach of another steamer submerged and torpedoed the Ancona which sank after 45 minutes.

"If any passengers lost their lives this was the fault of the crew, as the steamer tried to escape when ordered to stop, And even the crew only saved themselves, leaving the passengers.

"Foreign press reports that the submarine fired on the lifeboats, are inventions. When the steamer stopped the submarine ceased firing.

Washington, Nov. 15—The Austrian Embassy last night made public a statement from its government accepting responsibility for the sinking of the Italian steamer Ancona and placing the blame for the loss of life on the officers and crew of the vessel.

TRAFFIC REGULATIONS.

Police Conducting Campaign of Education at Certain Points.

A campaign of education in the traffic regulations of this city is being conducted by the police. Where Royal and Washington streets intersect, King street, the main thoroughfare of the city, considerable difficulty has been experienced by the policemen straightening out tangles and explaining to nonresidents the rules that obtain here, In Alexandria vehicles traveling east or west, have the right of way, but this fact is not generally understood even by some residents of the city. The police for some time have been forbearing and have made no arrests, but they will be less lenient after they have warned offenders. The police on duty near the principal street intersections are still kept busy, and Chief Goods states that his men have been instructed to see that the traffic rules are carried out.

GERMANS ARE ON VERGE OF REVOLT

Sailors on Interned Steamers Say They Are Unfairly Treated.

BLAME THE OFFICERS

Chafing Under Confinement, They Feel They May as Well Be in Jail as on the Ships.

Norfolk, Nov. 15.—Chafing under the confinement on their ships, and feeling that they are being made to unjustly suffer because of the misdeeds of others, principally officers the interned German sailors no the Prinz Eitel Fredrich and Kronprinz Wilhelm, are on the verge of revolt, according to reports circulated in Norfolk by German friends who occasionally are permitted to visit the men. It would not surprise these friends of the imprisoned men to learn at any time that there had been wholesale desertions from these interned ships.

The proposal to remove the men from the ships to an interment camp, where they can be more carefully guarded is believed advisable. It is said that even the officers at the Navy Yard realize that there is great restlessness among the enlisted Germans and for this reason have suggested to Washington that they should be transferred to detention camps.

"There is considerable bitterness among these men, "said a local German.

The men feel that they are being unfairly treated, that they might as well be prisoners in some jail, charged with crimes. They point to the fact that for months they came and went without hindrance and that their patrol oaths were religiously kept. They claim that they were orderly and well behaved, at all times, on the street and absolutely gave no trouble to the civil authorities.

But because certain officers unwisely took advantage of the courtesies shown, and escaped, these men are deprived of all liberty on shore and required to remain prisoners on their respective ships.

They resent this treatment and there is great danger of wholesale desertions.

It is declared further that continued confinement of the men, under orders from the Navy Department is certain to lead to a concerted movement to break paroles. Officials at the yard, it is said, have been advised as to these conditions.

OLD ROAD IMPROVEMENTS

River Turnpike, Between Washington and Alexandria to be Resurfaced

The old river turnpike between Alexandria and Washington, one of the oldest roads in this section of the country, is to be put in thorough repair by the supervisors of Alexandria county and when completed it will be the shortest route between the two cities. The board of supervisors have included an item for the improvement of this road in their appropriations for next year and as soon as the spring opens work will be commenced on resurfacing the entire road.

When completed there will be three fine automobile roads between this city and Washington, The Mt. Vernon Avenue, through the towns of Potomac, Del Ray, and St. Elmo, is now completed and has been thrown open to the public. Grading is practically finished on the Russell road which enters Alexandria through Braddock Heights, Rosemont and King Street, and the new undertrack crossing of the Old Dominion Railway near Hume's Springs is practically yfinished.

The river turnpike which follows Potomac Yards on the east and runs through brick yards near Arlington Junction, is one and one half miles shorter than either of the other two roads, the distance from the north end of the overhead bridge at the poor house to the south end of the highway bridge being three and one half miles. The approach to the highway bridge has just been improved by the war department of the United States government.

BOOKER T. WASHINGTON DEAD.

Colored Educator Succumbs to Bright's Disease at Tuskegee

Tuskegee, Ala., Nov. 12—Booker T. Washington, the ablest leader of the negro race, died yesterday. Bright's disease and arterio sclerosis caused his death.

Washington, founder of Tuskegee Institute, was born a slave near Hale's Ford, Va., in 1858. He was educated at the Hampton Industrial Institute at Hampton, Va., and the Wayland Seminary, Washington. He became an instructor at Hampton Institue and later a teacher in the public schools of West Virginia.

Practical education of the negro was Washington's life work. In 1881 he founded Tuskegee Institute, at Tuskegee, Ala. Here hundreds of negroes have been educated.

Washington earned a great deal of money from his lectures and writings Practically every dollar was devoted to the work at Tuskegee. He spoke all over the United States and in several European countries. "The Story of My Life," and "Up from Slavery" are two of his books.

A storm of protest was raised when Theodore Roosevelt, while President, invited Washington to dinner at the White House.

SERBS FALING BACK SLOWLY

They Are Inflicting Heavy Losses Upon Invaders of Country

STILL HOLDING PASS

Political Situation in Balkans Said to Be More Significant Than Military Events.

London, Nov. 15.—The Servians are falling back from mountain to mountain range before the advance of the Austro-German forces, whose official reports enumerate the capture of a thousand or more prisoners daily, a few guns and quantities of stores. The Serbians are fighting continuously, however, and are inflicting considerable losses on their pursuers.

Along the eastern front the Serbians appear to be holding their own against the Bulgarians, and are making a stand on the western bank of the Morava River. So stubborn has been their resistance that the Bulgarians have had to call for assistance from the Austro-German artillery in their effort to drive the defenders out of Katchanik Pass. Thus far they have been unsuccessful.

The British and French troops which are receiving re-enforcements are meeting with some success, and besides repulsing the Bulgarian attacks, have undertaken small offensive movements with good results. The Austro-German and Bulgarian forces, however, made such progress from the beginning of the campaign that it will take serious work now to check them.

For the moment the political situation is graver than the military. The central powers have again protested to Greece against the landing of allied troops at Saloniki. King Constantine is reported to have replied that as Saloniki is an open port there has been no infringement of Greek rights in the landing, and that Greece will remain neutral until one of the belligerents has transgressed against those rights. France and Italy, who have now joined their allies by sending warships to Saloniki, are particularly anxious as to the attitude of Greece.

Petrograd, Nov. 15.—The Russians have cleared the Germans from the coast line of the Gulf of Riga as far north as the upper end of Lake Kanger. After almost incessant fighting for eleven days, points both north and south of this lake, namely, Raggabe and Anting, were stormed and taken with heavy losses to the enemy.

The whole area here is bog land, more or less wooded, and the attacking forces were frequently waist deep in slimy morass. Kemmern, a few miles south of Anting, where the Germans were strongly intrenched, was also stormed and taken. The Germans appear to be on the run in this region, with the Russians pursuing them over the level, open country west from Kemmern.

The Russians are now on two high roads and a railway, all three of which converge on Tukkum, not a dozen miles beyond. The Russians have already reached the junction of the Riga-Windau and the Mitau-Windau railways, the cutting of which will hamper the German forces.

MAJOR PULLMAN SPEAKS

Head of District Police Department Addresses Men's Meeting Yesterday.

Before a congregation of more than 300 men and under the auspices of the Wesley Bible Class, of the Washington Street M. E. Church South, Major Raymond W. Pullman ,head of the District of Columbia Police Force, delivered an address on several interesting topics yesterday afternoon. Spiritual uplift of the young, social service, prevention of accidents and crime by the police, the Boy Scout movement, and incidentally a few phases of his own life, were among the subjects touched upon by the speaker.

Henry K. Field, president of the board of aldermen, presided and introduced Major Pullman as a "former Alexandrian."

Maj. Pullman told the audience, that Mr. Field was slightly in error. "I am a 'near Alexandrian,' however," the speaker said, "having been born on a farm about three miles southwest of this city, in Fairfax county," Growing tired of agricultural pursuits about the age of 2 years, he said he moved with his family to Washington, and had since been a resident of that city.

Maj. Pullman deplored the tendency of men in the larger centers of population to drift away from church work especially the men who have achieved success in the particular line of endeavor, turn to golf and other forms of amusement, and leave the welfare of the rising generations to the women. He said that the women were doing a splendid work in the church and Sunday school, but the men, he thought, should shoulder their share of the burden.

Referring to preventive work done by the police departments throughout the country, Maj. Pullman said that such work is not recorded, but that the officer finds satisfaction in having performed a good service. The speaker heartily approved the Boy Sout movement.

Harry Mott Parker, a barytone soloist of St. Stephen's Protestant Episcopal Church, Washington, sang two solos. His accompanist was Mrs. George E. Warfield, of this city.

After the meeting Maj. Pullman inspected the Alexandria police headquarters under guidance of Chief Goods, of the local police daprtment. He expressed particular interest when told that the chief of police here shares the bench with the police justice and served as clerk to the court, and remarked that the thought the idea excellent.

UNITED STATES TO PROTEST

British Cruiser Lie off American Ports and Stop Vessels

Woshington, Nov. 15—The practice of British cruisers lying off the ports of the Uinted States and stopping vessels. American as well as foreign, will be made the basis of a protest to Great Britain, according to authorative information obtained last night. It was learned that State Department officials were displeased by the activities of the British cruisers as manifested in many recent instances. Principal among them was the seizure and detention of the steamer Hocking. The latest case was the pursuit of the American-owned steamer Vinland off Norfolk, on the border of the three-mile limit. This is now being investigated.

The blockade of American ports by the British cruisers has already been characterized by President Wilson of "unfriendly and offensive."

New York, Nov. 15—British warships last Wednesday violated American territory, it is charged. One hundred miles south of New York an unnamed cruiser, flying the Union Jack, encroached within the three-mile limit, At the time she was in pursuit of the Danish steamship Vineland. C. Moller, master of the Vinland, made the charge against the ship yesterday. The Federal government will be asked to investigate. A protest has already been forwarded to the British government.

DEATH NOTICE.

Died Sunday, November 14th, at 2211 N street, northwest, Washington, MRS. JANIE LEE ATKINSON, 51 years old, widow of the late Weston Atkinson. Notice of funeral later.

TO MAKE ARRESTS IN LATEST PLOTS

Scores of Men All Over Country Under Strict Surveillance

WILL ACT QUICKLY

Generally Understood That Some Foreign Envoys Will Be Asked to Leave the Country.

Washington, Nov. 15—The Federal government will strike in two ways when it moves to break in two the conspiracy now alleged to exist, to destroy munitions factories and create labor troubles in order to hamper the shipment of munitions to the allies. It will proceed through diplomatic channels, by handing exequaters to every consular representative of a foreign government who is connected with the plots, and it will prosecute through the Department of Justice every civilian against whom it obtains sufficient evidence.

It is learned from a high authority that the government will not take another open step against those alleged to be concerned in the conspiracy until it is prepared to stamp out their activities by wholesale arrests simultaneously all over the country. Department of justice officials make no secret of the fact that at present scores of men—many of them representatives of foreign governments are under surveillance by agents of the United States.

Just how soon this government will act is a secret, not known even to many of the department officials. They know, however, that when Attorney- General Gregory and President Wilson are satisfied that enough evidence has been obtained to convict all the civilians implicated in the courts, the order for the wholesale arrests will go forth. At the same time, the State Department will make out several exequaturs and some of the representatives of foreign governments, whose names have been mentioned in connection with the munitions plots, may have to leave this country.

Department officials point out that the government is profiting by its experience in the case of Dr. Dumba, former Austrian ambassador. It was hoped that its action in asking for the recall of the one official regarded as the head of the movement to create labor troubles in plants manufacturing war munitions, would serve as a warning to all others engaged in the same activities. Officials soon learned, however, that the warning was disregarded.

WANT ALARM SYSTEM

Fire Apparatus Last Night Scattered Toward Nearly Every Point of the Compass

The need of an adequate fire alarm system for Alexandria was demonstrated last night when the apparatus of the various fire companies was sent in all directions in answer to an alarm of fire. The bells rang shortly before 8 o'clock and the three companies each went in different directions as the location of the fire had not been made clear in the telephone communication. It was nearly 15 minutes before the engines reached the scene of the fire which was located in a frame house at 214 north Fairfax street, An extinguisher had been used and the flames were out before the firemen arrived.

A committee of the underwriters association has had several conferences with the fire committee of City Council and a committee of the Chamber of Commerce relative to the improvements of the fire department and one of the principal things they are insisting upon is the installation of a modern fire alarm system. It was stated at a recent meeting held in this city that unless the system was established there would be an increase in rates for fire insurance in Alexandria.

At present the principal method of advising the fire companies of a fire is by calling police department on the telephone at police headquarters there is a special telephons connecting the three engine houses.

CHOIRMASTER 25 YEARS

Sherman B. Fowler's Services at St. Paul's Church Celebrated Yesterday.

One of the most interesting events in the church history of Alexandria took place yesterday at the celebration of the twenty- fifth anniversary of St. Paul's choirmaster, Sherman B. Fowler, as director in St. Paul's choir, a half hundred voices in a vested choir being an unusual occurrence. Both the morning and evening services drew a large congregation in spite of the inclement weather. In addition to the elaborate musical program for the morning, Rev. R. A. Greisser, a missionary to China, gave an address on music.

The evening services were entirely devoted to numbers from the choir. Federlein's Magnificat and Nunc Dimmittis in F were well rendered, the melodious strains filling the spacious edifice. The best composers of high-standard church music, such as Mendelssohn, Bischoff, Gounod and Mozart, furnished the impressive music. The soloists sang in good voice and clear tecnique and the uniform chorus work deserved much praise.

The Benediction Hymn, sung by Mrs. White:

"Now the day is over
Night is drawing nigh
Shadows of the evening
Steal across the sky."

brought one nearer the footstool of the Lord.

The solo parts, so well rendered, were taken by Mrs. Witman, Mrs. White, Miss Schippert, Mrs. Downham, Mrs. Fowler, Mr. Wirt, Mr. Ogden, Mr. Waller, Mr. Maddox, Mr. Franklin, Mr. Witman.

As the last strains of the recessional:

"Singing to welcome

echoed from the voice of the receding choir one felt that they had been especially privileged to have as a memory such an evening's entertainment.

In appreciation of his untiring efforts and successful direction, Mr. Fowler was presented with a diamond scarf pin by the choir. St. Paul's congregation presented him with a silver tea service. The St. Luke's chapter of the King's Daughters fashioned a silk cotter for him and he was the recepient of many personal gifts from members of the congregation.

The following composed the choir:

GOVERNOR'S ... APPEAL.

Thursday of next week is the day set apart by President Wilson for national thanksgiving. In pursuance of the course of the executive, Governor Stuart has issued a proclamation calling upon the people of the Old Dominion to vie in this time-honored custom. The Governor in the preface to his proclamation truly says:

Divine blessing has come to us in forms of bounty, mercy and peace. The year draws toward a close with the horn of plenty pouring its riches at out feet. In every section of our State there is abundance to satisfy bodily and physical needs, and on every side there is a wealth of opportunity for a larger intellectual life and deeper moral culture. While foreign nations struggle in death-grips, and face despair, depopulation and famine, our people are still prosperous and full of hope.

The suggestion thrown out by the Governor that there are opportunities for a larger intellectual life brings us up against a proposition that should receive the attention he intends. While the Old Dominion has been blest in basket and store and our people are far away from the wolf which is sniffing around homes in the old world with exhausted larders and coal bins while the bleak winds of winter are gathering force, the responsibility of cultivating the spiritual and intellectual powers should be apparent in this land of full and plenty. While some of the race have been entrusted with several talents, the great mass have one upon which a great interest will be demanded.

We live at a time when public schools are at their zenith and the world is flooded with literature. There is no excuse for illiteracy upon the part of any one; hence ignorance, as it is defined in the old English Readers, is a voluntary misfortune. It is difficult however, to get the many to understand that we are not only responsible for what we do know, but for that which we could have known.

THE BALKAN PUZZLE.

Tremendous interest has been aroused in London by recent developments in the Balkans and many are those who wonder why, with so much already on her hands, Germany should have decided to devote another big army to operations in a thir field of war. With the Russian situation becoming decidedly unfavorable from the point of view of any decision and with an allied offensive in the west making steady progress, it seems difficult to understand why the war lords of Germany should have decided to turn their activities suddenly to the Balkans.

It is suggested the King of Bulgaria is probably acting as he is because he thinks the Austro-Germans have now no longer a chance of winning the war.

He knows that the Austro-Germans effectiveness will probably begin to decline next month, and will certainly begin to decline not later than the end of the year. He perceives, therefore, that the Austro-German anxiety will begin to become acute in quite a short time. He purposes to use them to his own advantage for the moment.

Having secured the territory his people covet, having given to the Austro-Germans that road to Turkey which they have so long desired, he will watch the increasing difficulties in which the Germans and Austrians will find themselves with the progress of 1916, and, already in possession of all that his act of treason can give him, he will commit a second act of treason and will appeal to the allies.

FRENCH ARE DETERMINED.

Georges Clemenceau, former Premier and noted publicist of France speaking of present conditions in Europe says:

There has been a lot of talk about peace lately. It comes through Germany. At phenomenal situation is revealed that amid her seeming triumph, Germany's weakness grows daily. But the allies will not discuss peace yet.

When our army chiefs, in whose hands we placed the finest soldiers in the world, have placed us in a situation wherein we can talk peace, we shall see that the situation has changed. It will be different from the day the Kaiser threw himself upon Belgium and France and reveled in depredation and assissination.

Germany shows signs of exhaustion while the French, English, Russians and Italians have not even exerted themselves to the highest pitch. Germany is tired. We are not. That is the kernel of the whole affair. The Kaiser made no mistake in army organization. He is only guilty of the most monstrous crime against humanity. We have this consolation—that no nation can triumph mercly because it became an outlaw of civilization.

We will talk peace when we have hurled the German from French and Belgian soil, and made him feel the weight of French feet on German soil Peace will be our peace, but no statesman can now say what kind of peace it will be. Events alone can state the terms.

MAJOR PULLMAN'S ADDRESS.

Major Pullman, chief of the Washington police force, accepted an invitation to deliver an address before the Wesley Bible Class of the M. E. Church South yesterday afternoon. He came here under the supposition that he was to face such a class, but was somewhat startled to find an audience of about three hundred, composed of representative Alexandrians, who had gathered in the Young People's Building to hear him. He, however, proved equal to the occasion, although at first he manifested signs of state fright, but soon recovered his composure, and delivered an instructive and practical address.

The speaker said many things which afforded food for thought especially when he referred to the fact that so many men in the church are ciphers and most of the work falls upon women. He said, unfortunately men are too eager to find enjoyment in the many amusements of the world.

Virtually all the denominations of the city were represented in the audience, and it was the general opinion that Major Pullman should be invited to repeat his visit to Alexandria.

APATHETIC ELECTORATE.

The Richmond Registration Association has again begun active work with a view of arousing all men of the city to the necessity of qualifying to vote. Members of the association say that there is only one answer to the problems which now confront the city government and that is a large electorate.

The association now has a list of every white male over twenty-one years old and the exact status of his voting qualifications. It is the purpose of the organization to see that every one who is not qualified to cast a ballot does so at once.

T. M. Carrington, president of the association, truly says: The essence of responsible Democratic government lies in an active electorate, who will express themselves as to their choice for office. "Good men cannot be persuaded to run for office until they feel that they have the majority of the voters behind them; voters who are interested and thoroughly aroused for the welfare of the city. The moral and material interest of every citizen is directly involved in getting out a large vote."

Capt. George Wellington Streeter's defiance to the enforcement of the Sunday closing law in the "District of Lake Michigan," came to an ignominous conclusion yesterday when the captain and his entire "army" were captured by Chicago police after a pitched battle in which more than fifty shots were fired. The captain's munitions of war and supplies of Sunday beer were confiscated and hundreds of thirsty patrons who called during the day were disappointed.

He is alleged to have made a remark that President Wilson should have waited longer after the death of his wife before becoming engaged to Mrs. Galt. A statement was issued at the White House says that the action of Postmaster A. M. Kloepfer, in removing his assistant from office, was taken without the authority or knowledge of the President.

Excited refugees, anxious to get into places of greater security, attacked trains and broke out all windows in their efforts to get aboard. The excitement was increased by the high cost of foodstuffs.

Greene it will be recalled, skipped out to Canada, forfeiting his bond. The opinion handed down today reverses the Lynchburg District Court, where Judge McDowell decided in favor of the Government.

PROCLAIMS THANKSGIVING.

Governor Calls on People to Join in Worship of Almighty.

Governor Stuart has issued his Thanksgiving proclamation. It reads as follows:

Divine blessing has come to us in forms of bounty, mercy and peace. The year draws towards a close with the horn of plenty pouring its riches at our feet. In every section of our State there is abundance to satisfy bodily and physical needs, and on every side there is a wealth of opportunity for a larger intellectual life and a deepened moral culture. While foreign nations struggle in deathgrips, and face despair, depopulation and famine, our people are still prosperous and full of hope. We need to be thankful for a great past, a happy present, and the faith of our fathers which points to a glorious future. Men everywhere among us have shown a quickened interest in the common weal, and true-hearted standard bearers of the truth are to be found in our schools, in civic life, and in public affairs. The spirit of altrusim has grown and the public conscience has been awakened. Never in the history of the State have there been higher standards of honor for manhood, of purity for womanhood, and of training for children. Never has the hand of strength been so tenderly extended toward the weak and unfortunate. For all of these blessings, of harvest and of heart, it is our bounded duty to express our gratitude to Almighty God, and as a people to declare our devotion to Him as a loving Heavenly Father.

Now, therefore, I, H. C. Stuart, Governor of the Commonwealth of Virginia, do designate and appoint Thursday, November 25, 1915, Thanksgiving Day and do hereby request that all our people, abstaining from their usual occupations on that day, observe it as a day of thanksgiving and prayer, joining in public and private worship of Almighty God, thanking Him for all of His mercies and benefits, and entreating Him for continued guidance and blessing, not forgetting a petition for the welfare of the unhappy people of the lands beyond the seas.

In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the lesser seal of the Commonwealth to be affixed, in Richmond, this the tenth day of November nineteen hundred and fifteen, and of the Commonwealth the one hundred and fortieth.

By the Governor:

H. C. STUART,

B. O. JAMES,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.

BAD BREATH

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets Get at the Cause and Remove it

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, act gently on the bowels and positively do the work.

People afflicted with bad breath find quick relief through Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The pleasant, sugar-coated tablets are taken for bad breath by all who know them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act gently but firmly on the bowels and liver, stimulating them to natural action, clearing the blood and gently purifying the entire system.

They do that which dangerous calomel does without any of the bad after effects.

All the benefits of nasty, sickening, griping cathartics are derived from Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets without griping, pain or disagreeable effects of any kind.

Dr. F. M. Edwards discovered the formula after seventeen years of practice among patients afflicted with bowel and liver complaint with the attendant bad breath.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are purely a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; you will know them by their olive color.
